

Victorian Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Organisation

Data Reports Officer

- Engage with Clinical and Medical Teams to drive continuous improvement
- Create data visualisations
- 6 months maximum term with possibility to extend

VACCHO is the peak body for the health and wellbeing of Aboriginal people in Victoria and champions community control and health equality for Aboriginal communities. We are a centre of expertise, policy advice, training, innovation and leadership in Aboriginal health. VACCHO advocates for the health equality and optimum health of all Aboriginal people in Victoria.

This is your opportunity to unleash the power of data to create dynamic and engaging data visualisations that will drive continuous improvement within the medical environment which in turn will improve the health outcomes for Aboriginal people in Victoria.

In this role you will be collecting and analysing clinical data from health services. You then identify trends and engage with the health services to improve patient health outcomes and quality of care. You will also be producing documents and data visualisations around the trends identified that can be used to inform government and other stakeholders.

To be successful in this role you will need:

- Strong information technology skills
- Ability to analysis and interpret data
- Understanding of the health sector

If this sounds like the job you are looking for then you can download the Position Description from our website www.vaccho.org.au/jobs.

To apply please e-mail a copy of your resume and written responses addressing the selection criteria identified in the PD to employment@vaccho.org.au.

For queries about the position please contact Paula Jones-Hunt on 9411 9411. Applications close on Monday 6th February.